Johnson & Wales University begins its fall classes in early September with a group of 10+ students signed up for the Club Management class. Rather than have various speakers visit campus as in the past, the Professor has changed his class schedule to allow the students to visit a different club each week. As such, the group will be visiting clubs from Miami to the Palm Beaches each week from September 12th until October 24th. At present all visits are lined up with the exception of Wednesday, October 3rd which is pending.
